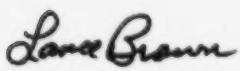
The Honorable Joan Beatty
Minister of Culture, Youth and Recreation
Province of Saskatchewan

Dear Ms. Beatty:

In accordance with the Tabling of Documents Act, it is my pleasure to present to you, on behalf of the Board of Trustees, the annual report of the Community Initiatives Fund for the period April 1, 2003 to March 31, 2004.

Respectfully submitted,



Lance Brown
Chairperson
Board of Trustees

Chairperson's Message

The Community Initiatives Fund (CIF) was created by the Government of Saskatchewan to distribute a portion of casino profits to benefit Saskatchewan people and communities. It receives a portion of the net profits of the Saskatchewan Gaming Corporation. The government appointed a Board of Trustees to manage and administer the CIF. The Board consists of eight representatives who have had a long history of volunteering their time and efforts for the benefit of Saskatchewan people.

For the past seven years, the Community Initiatives Fund has supported many different community initiatives and organizations to assist vulnerable children, youth and families; problem gambling treatment and prevention; and health care. This year has seen the development and launch of four major new Centennial initiatives for the CIF: the In Motion program; Aboriginal Participation in Sport, Culture and Recreation; Centennial capital support and centennial and programming initiatives.

These new initiatives will provide exciting opportunities to mobilize the people of Saskatchewan, bridging the diverse people of our province, north and south, urban and rural, aboriginal and non-aboriginal. It will provide a unique opportunity to introduce initiatives that will make a lasting difference to future generations.

The following is a brief synopses of the new programs launched this past year.

In Motion is a health promotion strategy with a focus on physical activity. Its purpose is to mobilize Saskatchewan people to make physical activity an integral part of every day life. Its aim is to foster changes in peoples' behaviour, understanding and participation around physical activity, its values and benefits.

Urban Aboriginal Community Grant Program. Fourteen communities throughout the province provide programs to increase access to, and assist in the development of sport, culture and recreation programs and leadership opportunities for Aboriginal people.

Urban Aboriginal Leadership Grant Program. The communities of Prince Albert, Saskatoon and Regina are provided with a grant to develop and implement quality city-wide leadership and training initiatives for urban Aboriginal sport, culture and recreation practitioners and volunteers through the assistance of a full-time person working in the sector.

Aboriginal Provincial Initiatives Program. Funding is provided to support the development and provision of First Nation and Metis sport, culture and recreation initiatives that have provincial significance or that promote Aboriginal heritage and culture.

Aboriginal Arts and Culture Leadership. This program builds capacity in Aboriginal communities through the development of arts and culture leaders and creating cultural opportunities that will enhance skill development, personal growth and positive lifestyles. It will also increase the number of Aboriginal people with the skills and training to work with and support cultural programming.

Northern Community School Coordinator Program. Sixteen new community school recreation coordinators in the north were added to an existing program with six northern schools. This program supports recreation coordinators working out of the school as a central hub, enabling a broad range of community activities to be provided. A mentor position has recently been developed and implemented to support and ensure the effectiveness of the Northern Community School Coordinator program. It is administered by the NRCC.

Northern Leadership Initiative. This program supports initiatives to increase the capacity of northern sport, culture and recreation volunteers, youth, staff and organizations to successfully develop and implement leadership initiatives that lead to the effective and efficient delivery of programs and services. It is administered by the NRCC.

Centennial Facilities Grant Program. The program supports community initiatives by funding the construction of new facilities or the renovation of sport, culture, recreation and heritage facilities that significantly extends the facility's useful life while leaving a lasting legacy that builds confidence and pride among Saskatchewan people.

Celebrating Community Centennial Grant Program this program supports unique projects that are designed to create personal bonds and understanding among people from diverse communities. The program also increases awareness and understanding of the cultural heritage of the province by encouraging people to come together and explore their diversity as they build bridges to the future.

The CIF continues to fund the five regional exhibition associations that were directly affected by casino expansion as well as community programs targeted at vulnerable children, youth and families through summer and annual grants. The program also supports Hospital Foundations in Regina and Saskatoon and prevention, education and treatment programs that reduce the social harm associated with problem gambling.

I would like to welcome all of the volunteers that have agreed to sit on the adjudication committees for each one of the four new initiatives. Also, I would like to extend my sincerest thank you to the other individuals who continue to volunteer their services on the Board of Trustees – Randy Goulden, Cheryl Bauer Hyde, Don McDougall, Joe McKay, Audra Young, Kevin Scott and Guy Tourigny. Everyone's knowledge, expertise and time commitment is very much appreciated as we look forward to what promises to be a very active year ahead.

CIF in Action

CIF proceeds are used to support programs in communities throughout Saskatchewan. These programs, which are developed by volunteer community organizations, are helping to create a better future for all residents. The following are examples of how CIF funding has made a difference.

Culture Camp at Marean Lake

Although the purpose of the 9th Annual Culture Camp at Marean Lake was to promote cross cultural relationships and identities, the 62 participants gained much more than that. They made new friends; gained an understanding of the importance of all people working, playing and appreciating each other despite cultural differences; and left with some great memories.

The camp is organized by the Metis Nation – Saskatchewan Eastern Region II with support from CIF. It was attended by youth from around the region between the ages of 8-12. The camp targets youth at risk or who live in poverty, but was open to all youth to ensure a cross section with different backgrounds.

The youth were provided with a variety of activities throughout the five-day camp, including two workshops. One workshop focused on addictions, fetal alcohol syndrome and family violence. The other centered on safety in the home and an action plan in cvase of an emergency.

Other activities included soccer, volleyball, football, dodgeball, kickball, Frisbee and skipping. All youth received swimming lessons and a majority received new achievement badges. Canoes were donated by the Nipawin School Division. Craft lessons, taught by a Metis volunteer, were offered throughout the week as an alternative to sporting activities.

Participants enjoyed a mini-Olympics featuring six events with everyone receiving a prize. An open house was also held for parents and hay rides were offered to all who attended. The evening ended with a fireworks display.

When asked on a questionnaire if they enjoyed the camp, all 62 replied YES!

Family Summer Learning Camp

Stories, exploring, wellness and giving back were the themes of the Family Summer Learning Camp in Prince Albert. More than 120 families participated in the program, which provided a framework for a positive community experience for at-risk individuals.

The program was developed by the Riverside Community School Association. The school had previously been successful in reaching at-risk families by introducing a community room and hiring an outreach worker. The community room had become a safe gathering place where parents, community members, staff and their families visit, get to know each other, and learn from one another. The Family Summer Learning Camp was designed to build upon this success through the themes of stories, exploring, wellness and giving back.

As part of the stories theme, participants told stories through music, books, oral teachings, drums and dance. Each family made its own storybook.

The exploring theme featured families learning something new in their neighborhood. They took part in field trips, attended presentations, and visited the museum and Chamber of Commerce visitors centre.

Mental, physical and spiritual wellness were discussed as part of the wellness theme. These discussions were led by Elders and included presentations on diabetes and nutrition. Meals and snacks were prepared in a nutritious manner using lots of fruits and vegetables.

Under the giving back theme, families planned an activity that would give something back to the community, such as cleaning up litter and volunteering at an event.

As Delphine Melchert of the Riverside Community School Association noted, "Watching the children playing happily with their friends and spending time with their family was a daily joy for all of us. We know they will have many happy memories of the summer program."

Sandy Bay Sport and Recreation Program

When the school year ends, youth must be encouraged to continue to participate in physical and cultural programs that teach them good sportsmanship and leadership skills. These programs build their self-esteem and help them set and achieve goals. That's why the Sandy Bay Recreation Board and the Northern Village of Sandy Bay used CIF funds to create the Summer Sport and Cultural Recreation Program. The program consisted of a wide variety of activities.

At the youth centre, participants constructed crafts and enjoyed music and dance contests. A cultural camp was held at a nearby campground. At this camp, youth and Elders camped overnight and discussed cultural traditions.

There was a comprehensive summer sport program including: soccer, softball, canoeing, as well as water and boat safety training.

Program organizers were satisfied with the results as the youth learned the value of teamwork, dedication and responsibility during the activities. It also helped to reinforce the importance of adopting a healthy lifestyle.

Good Food Box Program

Healthy eating is the cornerstone to achieving optimal wellness. To achieve this, it is necessary to have sufficient resources to afford healthy foods as well as the knowledge to make nutritious choices.

The Tisdale and Area Community Action Co-operative Ltd. and the Food for All Coalition in Melfort partnered to create the North East Regional Good Food Box Program, which was designed to meet the need in this area. The Good Food Box contained fruits and vegetables that were offered to families at wholesale prices.

Using CIF funds, these organizations made bulk purchases from local producers and used volunteers to assemble and distribute the boxes. Each box contained food preservation tips, recipes, and nutrition information on current food-related issues.

The boxes were distributed to residents of Tisdale, Kinistin First Nation, Yellow Quill First Nation, Melfort, Naicam, Pleasantdale, Star City, Nipawin, Shoal Lake and Red Earth. The program filled a special need in the First Nations communities since they did not have easy access to affordable fresh produce. The boxes were available to anyone in these communities, but emphasis was placed on promoting the program to individuals who have an increased risk of developing health problems, particularly Type II Diabetes, because of the lack of fresh produce in their daily diets.

The Good Food Box program is the first of its kind in Canada. It is unique because it is truly a rural based program with some volunteers traveling up to four hours to ensure the needs of their community are met.

New Beginnings in Home Parenting

New Beginnings is an initiative of the La Ronge and Area Fetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder Prevention Team to support high risk mothers in the area. These women have experienced poverty, unemployment, and had identified their parenting skills as a concern. They all expressed a strong desire to break old patterns of parenting and lifestyle choices.

To assist these women, the Children North East Childhood Intervention Program and the Mamawetan Churchill River Regional Health Authority (MCRRHA), both members of the Disorder Prevention Team, created the New Beginnings in Home Parenting Project.

Through this project, staff from these organizations met with 33 New Beginnings clients to identify their immediate parenting needs. The staff provided a variety of resources to these clients including: Healthy Parenting Home Study Program from the Saskatchewan Institute for the Prevention of Handicaps, Share it Forward from the Yorkton Regional Intersectoral Committee, Active Parenting, and the British Columbia Aboriginal Network on Disability Society program Journey Through the Healing Circle.

Elders were recruited to assist with this project so the clients could develop and secure an active and ongoing relationship with them.

In addition to the existing New Beginnings clients, other women were referred from the La Ronge Medical Clinic, MCRRHA Public Health, MCRRHA Mental Health, MCRRHA Addictions and Detox, Department of Community Resources and Employment, Lac La Ronge Indian Band Public Health, and Indian Child and Family Services.

The parenting project reflected the case plans of these women and their personal parenting goals. Where these clients could be best met by existing services, these services were provided. The remainder were given an opportunity to connect with other parenting supports including information and skill practice.

Increased Programming for the Boys and Girls Club of Yorkton

The Boys and Girls Club of Yorkton provides recreational, educational, cultural, environmental, artistic, life skills and literacy programs for youth aged 6-16. With CIF funding, it was able to boost its programming from 20 hours a week to 30 and add a wide variety of new initiatives.

The club offered a new five-day-per-week after school program at the Public Library. Youth received homework help, computer access and increased their literacy skills through games, activities, crafts, music and arts.

Other new programs were Generation Makers' Teen Night, which was a chance for older youth and teens to build healthy, active, well-rounded lifestyles by participating in non-competitive sport programs at St. Mary's School Plus; and Thrillin' Thursdays, a program of sports, cooperative games, activities and arts and crafts at Yorkdale Central School. As well, Super Saturdays were introduced that featured homework help, literacy, nutrition, activities and arts and crafts at the Library; and the Keep Our City Clean Team was developed, a youth group which cleaned up around the city and learned about other ways to preserve the environment.

Kids Afterschool Multi-Rec Program (KAMP) was a series of non-competitive and co-operative games offered in partnership with the Gloria Hayden Community Centre. Better Forever was another initiative in cooperation with the Yorkton Friendship Centre to address the fundamental issues faced in everyday life ranging from social and childhood development, health and wellness, cultural awareness and financial management to cooking, babysitting, personal safety and abuse.

Funding was used to support Kids Crafty Creation, an arts and crafts program at the Public Library that gives children the opportunity to be creative while experiencing elements of different cultures, customs and celebrations. Cool Night @ Columbia was also supported as a fun gym night with lots of sports, games and activities at Columbia School.

Actions + Attitude = Survival Project

In 2003, the Rainbow Youth Centre in Regina embarked upon a new programming direction. With CIF funds, the Centre created the ACTIONS + ATTITUDE = SURVIVAL PROJECT (AASP), which was designed to improve the ability of at-risk youth to control their responses to difficult circumstances.

Youth who use the centre already understood how to survive the streets. What they did not know was how to transfer this survival knowledge to other areas of their life such as school and community.

Youth were provided with survival knowledge through skill-building exercises in shelter, getting food, making fires, navigating and meeting other basic needs. Opportunities were also given to youth to explore how thoughts and emotions could affect their minds while under stress. Community involvement was an important part of AASP and the youth undertook the lead role in organizing Youth Week celebrations and other outreach programs.

Programming included materials from the Lions-Quest Skills for Adolescence curriculum which reinforced the values of: self-discipline, a healthy lifestyle, respect for others, kindness, responsibility, honesty, service and courage. The curriculum was facilitated by Care From the Core and Regina Aikido Dojo.

Maple Creek Skating Rink

The skating rink is the centre of winter activity in Maple Creek. It is home to hockey, figure skating, broomball, public skating and other community initiatives. The Maple Creek Memorial Arena was constructed in 1949 and was refurbished in 1982. However, by 2003, the rink was nearing the end of its life expectancy.

Although the building had not been condemned, several structural assessments took place in recent years which indicated that the bases of the arches supporting the building were deteriorating. Some repairs were made, but the facility continued to have moisture and ventilation problems.

A community volunteer organization, the Maple Creek New Skating Rink Committee, was formed to help raise funds for a new $1.8 million facility. The community responded to their efforts with pledges of more than $1 million from individuals and businesses. Realizing the critical need in the community, CIF trustees agreed to make a significant contribution to this project.

The new rink will be located in Centennial Park, where it will complement the existing curling rink, ball diamonds, swimming pool, tennis courts and playgrounds. It will create more opportunities for children, youth and adults in the town and surrounding area to participate in healthy activities. It will also strengthen relationships with surrounding communities, increase economic growth and tourism, and increase community pride.

Pinehouse Gets In Motion

Saskatchewan In Motion is a province-wide movement aimed at increasing physical activity for health benefits. Its vision is that the people of Saskatchewan will be the healthiest, most physically active in Canada. The people of Pinehouse have embraced this vision and have taken significant strides in the right direction.

The community formed an In Motion committee to develop an action plan to encourage people to become more active. The community is using an intersectoral approach with the health district, schools, daycares, victim services, RCMP and other organizations working together to promote the benefits of physical activity.

Pinehouse's action plan consists of a different theme each month. These themes range from cultural, family, fitness and safety to education, protective services and elders.

Activities will be based on each of these monthly themes.

The schools have taken a lead role in this initiative and students have committed to walking 15 minutes twice a day. The community recently formed a walking club and businesses are incorporating physical activity into the workplace.

The community is planning several initiatives including a canoeing and camping trip involving kids and Elders, and sports days with a different sport each day of the week.

Passing on Campfire Teachings

In traditional First Nation culture the centre of home life was fire. It was the place where cooking, serving and cultural values were handed down. Today the natural place for women to gather and share stories is in the kitchen.

St. Mary Community School in North Battleford used that concept to develop the Passing on Campfire Teachings program. This program brought together women in the kitchen to duplicate, in a contemporary sense, the events around the fire of First Nations women in years past.

Traditional teachings occurred as a group of women prepared traditional and contemporary meals for their families. At the centre of the group was a cultural leader who used storytelling while demonstrating how traditional foods are prepared. The leader taught the group to understand traditional protocols and First Nations leadership, which they could use to participate in the rural aboriginal community events and to pass on traditional knowledge to their own families.

Many of the participants were young mothers who had no male role models. These individuals did not have the benefit of observing traditional men in their own families when they were young. Some had come from families with residential school backgrounds, some were raised in foster families, and others had parents who suffered from addictions or spend time in prison. For many of the participants, this was the first time that they had learned and practiced their culture.

The idea for the program came from a cultural sharing circle where families and community members gathered to discuss the cultural programming at St. Mary Community School.

The Encyclopedia of Saskatchewan

The biggest publishing project in Saskatchewan history is the Encyclopedia of Saskatchewan. It will capture the breadth of the province's history, knowledge and achievements, and will act as a continually renewable learning resource for all persons with an interest in Saskatchewan. It will also stimulate others to learn more about our province.

This project is made possible with CIF funding to the Canadian Plains Research Centre. It is being developed to celebrate Saskatchewan's centennial in 2005 and is the first project of its kind in provincial history. It is expected that the book will be 1,200 pages in length and contain about 3,000 entries dealing with all aspects of life in Saskatchewan.

Due to the immense nature of this project, nearly 2,000 writers from throughout the province will be contributing to the encyclopedia. These writers will consult thousands of other Saskatchewan citizens in order to develop their entries.

The Encyclopedia of Saskatchewan will be a lasting and dynamic compendium of knowledge on Saskatchewan and its place in the world. It will celebrate the many significant achievements in the province's history. As a learning resource, it will make information about the province readily available to the people of Saskatchewan and others through schools, libraries, and museums.

Charlebois Northern School Coordinator

The Northern School Coordinator for sport, culture and recreation at Charlebois School in Cumberland House had a busy year with programs for youth and families thanks to CIF funding.

During the winter, the coordinator developed a variety of cross country ski programs. Not only did students learn how to ski, but they also learned how to properly care, maintain and store the equipment.

In the summer, the main activity switched to paddling – both canoeing and kayaking. Again, students learned how to look after their equipment and became quite proficient at repairs. Since the nearby lake is shallow and contains rocks, the students learned how to repair holes created from the rocks.

In addition to these activities, the coordinator developed a variety of other programs. Family nights were developed with a variety of themes including literacy, cooking, and household budgeting.

Several other activities were also organized with a cultural component. Participants enjoyed square dancing and sports. There was an outdoor survival program and a "duck plucking" activity in preparation for the annual cultural supper.

Another important aspect of these programs is that many students helped developed their skills for the 2005 Northern Saskatchewan Games, which will be held next year in Cumberland House.

AUDITORS' REPORT

To: Members of the Legislative Assembly
Province of Saskatchewan

We have audited the statement of financial position of the Community Initiatives Fund as at March 31, 2004 and the statements of operations and net assets and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Fund's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform an audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation.

In our opinion, these financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Community Initiatives Fund as at March 31, 2004 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles.

Community Initiatives Fund

Notes to Financial Statements
March 31, 2004

1. Nature of operations:

The Community Initiatives Fund (the "Fund"), previously known as the Associated Entities Fund, was established on August 23, 1996 by The Saskatchewan Gaming Corporation Act. It is managed by a Board of Trustees consisting of eight people appointed by the Lieutenant Governor in Council. The Board of Trustees is responsible for managing and operating the Fund.

Pursuant to The Saskatchewan Gaming Corporation Act, and other agreements, the Government of Saskatchewan receives, into the General Revenue Fund, certain gaming revenues. The Minister of Finance transfers a portion of these gaming revenues to the Fund. As directed by the Department of Culture, Youth and Recreation the Trustees of the Fund grant these revenues to persons, organizations or associations in Saskatchewan for purposes prescribed by the Lieutenant Governor in Council upon application to the Board of Trustees.

The Fund has an agreement with Sask Sport Inc. to provide administrative services to the Fund. In 2004 Sask Sport Inc. was paid $150,000 (2003 - $116,650) for these services.

2. Significant accounting policies:

These financial statements are prepared in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles.

Grant expense:

Grants are recognized when a completed grant application is received from an eligible organization and approved by the Board of Trustees.

Grant returns:

Grants returns are recognized when a completed follow up report is received indicating funds were not fully utilized and approval is obtained from the Board of Trustees.

Use of estimates:

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Differences are reflected in current earnings when identified.

Revenue Recognition:

Revenues are recognized in accordance with accounting principles applicable to non-profit organizations. Transfers from the General Revenue Fund are recognized when received or receivable. Interest revenue is recognized when earned.

3. Designated net assets:

Pursuant to directions given under the governing legislation, the Trustees of the Fund have designated net assets as follows:

- Community Grants to fund programs for vulnerable children, youth and families at the community level;
- Community Cultural Facilities to fund building or upgrading of community cultural facilities;
- Problem Gambling for initiatives to address problem gambling;
- Regional Exhibition Associations;
- Hospital Foundations;
- Fitness to fund projects aimed at increasing physical activity.
- Aboriginal Participation to fund projects aimed at increasing aboriginal participation in sport, culture and recreation;
- Centennial 2005 to fund projects surrounding Saskatchewan's Centennial in 2005.

These designated net assets are not available for other purposes without the approval of the Trustees. Changes, during the current year, to these designated net assets were as follows:

	Beginning of year	Allocations	Net Grant Payments	End of year
Community Grants	$ 755,312	$ 2,000,000	$ (1,903,935)	$ 851,377

4. Financial instruments and risks:

Fair value:

The recorded value of receivable from Province of Saskatchewan – General Revenue Fund and grants payable approximates fair value due to the short term nature of these items.

Credit and interest rate risk:

The Fund is not subject to significant credit or interest rate risk.

5. Related party transactions:

These financial statements include transactions with related parties. The Fund is related to all Saskatchewan Crown agencies such as departments, corporations, boards and commissions under the common control of the Government of Saskatchewan. Also, the Fund is related to non-Crown enterprises that the Government jointly controls or significantly influences.

During the year, the Fund paid grants of $260,910 (2003 - $28,340) to certain Saskatchewan Regional Health Authorities for various initiatives.

Other transactions with related parties and amounts due to/from them are described separately in the financial statements and the notes thereto.

6. Transfer to General Revenue Fund:

On April 1, 2003, Order in Council #261/2003 directed the transfer of $7,695,000 of the net assets of the Fund to the General Revenue Fund of the Province of Saskatchewan.

7. Commitments:

Subject to the continued eligibility of the recipients, the Fund has committed to grants of $205,000 and $105,000 respectively for the 2005 and 2006 fiscal years.
